Kiwi Syslog Server NG is a contemporary, cost-effective software that aids you in gathering and keeping control of log information of all your devices in the network in a central site. Whether those messages are syslog messages being generated by routers, SNMP traps generated by switches, or Windows servers with event logs, this tool allows you to collect them all in one place to save time instead of having to look at each device individually.

You can fix the network problems much quicker with the centralized features of log storage and searching. You are no longer having to run between one console to another in order to know what is going on with your network, but you have an overview of the events. This will enable you to find issues at a fast rate, minimize downtimes, and maintain the smooth performance of systems.

Kiwi Syslog Server NG also facilitates the security and compliance process by storing logs securel,y which can be reviewed at a later time. It provides your IT department with the capabilities to keep track of system health, notify them of problems early and to keep in line with data retention policies within a simple to use interface.

Key Features of Kiwi Syslog Server NG :
