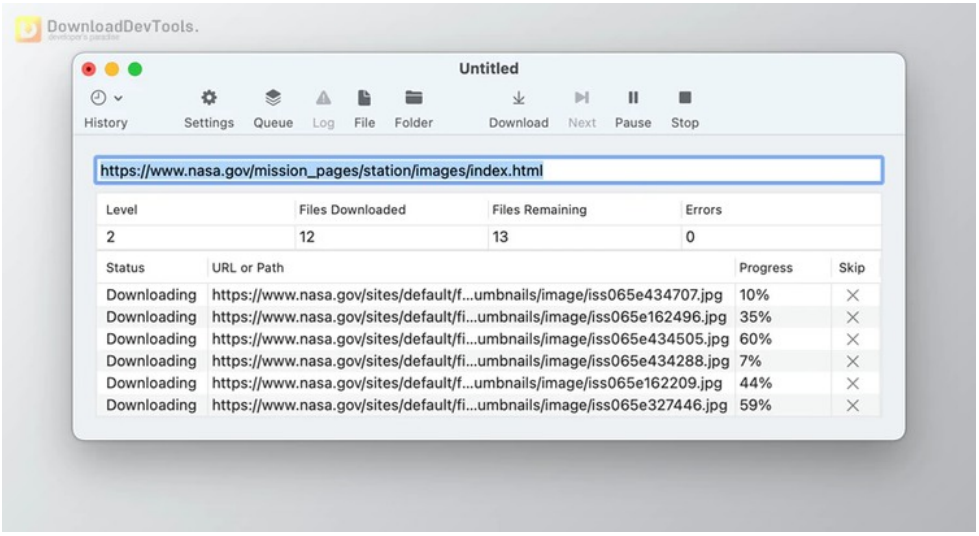
SiteSucker v5.7.4 for macOS

2025-08-27 20:21:19



SiteSucker is a robust Macintosh application designed to automate downloading entire websites from the internet. With the ability to asynchronously copy webpages, images, PDFs, style sheets, and various files, SiteSucker duplicates the site's directory structure and saves it to your local hard drive. Input a URL, press return, and SiteSucker effortlessly downloads the specified website. While it typically "localizes" the downloaded files for offline browsing, it can also capture sites without modification.

enables users to create documents containing download information, allowing for easy replication of downloads at any time. During an ongoing download, choosing the Save command will pause the process and save the status, enabling users to resume from where it left off later. SiteSucker is a universal app compatible with Macintosh computers equipped with Intel or Apple silicon processors, requiring macOS 12 Monterey or newer. With support for multiple languages, including English, French, German, Italian, Portuguese, and Spanish, SiteSucker provides a user-friendly solution for archiving websites and browsing them offline.

Key Features of SiteSucker :

1. Automatic Website Download: SiteSucker automates downloading entire websites from the internet by copying webpages, images, PDFs, style sheets, and other files to your local hard drive.
2. Localized Downloads: By default, SiteSucker "localizes" the downloaded files, allowing users to browse the site offline with a duplicated directory structure. However, it also has the flexibility to download sites without modification.
3. Document Saving: Users can save all download information in a document. This feature enables the creation of reusable documents for performing the same download at a later time. If a download is in progress when the Save command is selected, SiteSucker pauses the download and saves its status with the document, allowing for later resumption.
4. Universal App: The current version of SiteSucker is a universal app built to run on Macintosh computers with Intel or Apple silicon processors. It is compatible with macOS 12 Monterey or newer.
