Custom Text Animation in Adobe After Effects: Learn how to make custom text animations using animators of text: After Effects' built-in system is specifically designed to animate text.

If you are creating motion videos or graphics of all kinds, the ability to create animated text is an absolute requirement.

With text animators, you can choose from various options to create animations for each word, letter, or text line. It's simple for you to set up and also easy to modify the words of the text even after you've made the animation. You can also create the animation as a preset to reuse it with any text layer in every After Effects project; no need to create or import everything. You can also share the animations you create with other users.

Learn more about:

- How animators of text work
- What are the different options for animating text that controllers can do?
- What do the Selector Shapes do? And how can they be animated with the Range Selector?
- What properties can be animated?
- How do you adjust the easing of animators of text
- How to utilize multiple animators to create more complicated animations
- When to use the Wiggly Selector
- How do you make text 3D? (using After Effects)
- How do you save your customized text animators as a preset
- Additionally, I'll present eight different examples that show an array of possibilities. You can make your distinctive text animations by applying what you've learned.
