Data Creator v1.9.1 for macOS

2025-02-18 14:27:48

Data Creator is a sophisticated data generator that creates tables filled with pseudo-random customized content with just a few clicks.

A must-have for every power user, developer, or web admin working with datasets or web pages that require realistic and neutral created data for prototyping or testing.

It lets you create real-world conditions for testing and demoing your work.

- Create small or massive databases (thousands and thousands) for rapid prototyping and stress testing of structures, tables, and scripts.
- To develop an actual demonstration and testing of software using real-world data, not just ad-hoc text fields created using copy and paste.
- To create massive, heterogeneous real-world data for development, testing, or demonstration purposes.
- Gets a diverse, heterogeneous, and highly accurate data set, which is realistic during demonstration and test of usage.
