Moody, vibey, killer B+w presets.

I have always adored black + white photographs.

With all these presets, I have put a spin on the timeless b+w photograph. I have generated (& perfected) a few black + white presets I just adore. They are super flexible and simple to tweak in almost any light situation.

Backlit, direct lighting, artificial lighting, etc - all these can work on all of them.

Mm bw: paper that I really like the basic vibes this cushioned gives. The muted highlights faded shadows remind me of an old college black + white paper. This is the first b+w preset I made and used it only for quite a very long moment. It is super flexible and works on just about any light situation. Based upon your shooting mode, the only tweak that needs to be required is correcting the vulnerability.

Mm bw: grit

This black + white has a few great, honest grit for this. I have added grain, sharpness, deep shadows, and slightly muted highlights. It is super flexible and will conserve the day on badly exposed pictures (hey, we are human). I simply love the mood that this one has.

Mm bw: honey

Here really is my favorite famous black + white. I have added creamy tones, shadows, and tinted it . This preset really sets itself aside as much as black white's head, providing your customers something special.

Mm bw: faux

I made this preset specifically for synthetic (artificial) light and assists me to decorate my wedding reception photographs. i.e. : flash, ambient, candlelit, sparklers, etc.. I have corrected a killer mix of vulnerability, contrast, sharpness, and tone curve to handle any situation - even though you are over/underexposed.
