

Doc-O-Matic Professional Edition v10.1.2.2288

2024-12-18 23:01:45

The utilization of the Doc-O-Matic provides the users are very reliable as well as an effortless procedure for the documentation of the API as well as the source code and documentation of the writer which is generally purposed right from a large number of the designs as well as the format in the shortest time as much as possible. It is able to take away marks as well as source code and adds them in the inputs and themes and creates documentation for the users and developers. Right from the foundation of the documentation, it is able to create distinct outputs and it is known to be using a common strategy. The Doc-O-Matic is capable of generating HTML based documents for help such as HTML Help, help 2, to help viewer 2.x, as well as the browser-based internet help. It is capable of producing XML output for the users and the developers also with the documentation in the format of PDF and the format of RTF. It adds conceptual topics as well as external input that are capable of producing documentation from it. It has a single source of approach and it is generating many different types of output from documentation bass which is single for its users. With the help of it, the software becomes a very complex and reliable tool that is capable of helping the user in the creation of documentation and later keeping it up to date for the purpose of crucial success. When the user takes good care of the process of developing the product, he requires the tools to produce the best possible results ever as much as possible. In this regard, the Doc-O-Matic is capable of producing any documentation for the user as well as the team members. Creation of the documentation for any kind as well as size with the help of the Doc-O-Matic is possible and it can happen very effortlessly. The Doc-O-Matic makes the production of the documentation possible for all its users and developers and it provides a highly accessible format with only a single source. There are certain benefits regarding the Doc-O-Matic such as it allows the user's documentation to be up-to-date always, and has the unique support for Java, JavaScript, C/C++, C#, Delphi as in as PHP programming languages, and so on. It is able to produce source documentation for the users with the help of the format of PDF, HTML help, help viewer, and even web help and graphical documentation or the tools of the QA. It has a very flexible feature of the report and provides the users with a visualization tool that has a class of the hierarchy. It produces outputs that are highly accessible for the user and has the ability to tailor all the user needs and requirements. With the use of the Doc-O-Matic, the user is capable of being the author of the source document as well as application help both at once. It usually comes to the users with the templates that are predefined for the documentation process which is widely used such as the Visual Studio and the documentation of the MSDN.

The great features and attributes of the Doc-O-Matic are stated below:

- It has the native support for Delphi, Java, JavaScript, PHP, and even Matlab and a few more.
- It is capable of adding many configurations for every output format.
- It has the ability to produce graphical class links that have hierarchical nature.
- It has a module as well as separate hierarchical modules.
- It provides member folders for namespaces along with the other modules.
- It can extend the folder method and the visibility of the folder.
- It can support the files that are Unicode as well as the file Unicode identifiers.
- Doc-O-Matic has complete support for the languages and this process, there is no need for configuration.
- It can generate content for different folders and perform the process of overviewing the members of the pages.
- It has the ability to add symbols that are very customizable and even the navigation pages including the class members that are base.
- Fully automatic hyperlinking is provided by the Doc-O-Matic to the users and the developers.

所有软件资源

100%安全

已检测 无病毒 无篡改

去预览

标签

Document Generator Tools