Peter Coulson Photography – Working With A Stylist: Peter and the model Rhiannon, affectionately known as RaRa, have enjoyed a longstanding collaboration spanning several years. Recently, they joined forces with Rhiannon's friend, Daniel P., for an editorial shoot. However, Peter expressed his preference not to overly "collaborate" on shoots, as he finds it can sometimes lead to the makeup artist or stylist dominating the creative direction.

In the first video, Peter elaborates on his approach and concerns regarding collaboration, particularly highlighting his experience with the dynamics that can arise. Throughout the shoot, viewers witness the dynamic between Peter and Daniel, who have never worked together before. Their differing tastes and styles become apparent as they navigate through the various looks and setups.

The shoot unfolds in multiple segments:

- The Stylist: Introduction to the collaboration and the roles of each team member.
- Setup: Behind-the-scenes look at the preparation and setup for the shoot.
- Looks 1 & 2: Exploration of the first and second looks created during the session.
- Looks 3 & 4: Continuation of the shoot, showcasing the third and fourth looks.
- Look 5: Final segment focusing on the fifth and possibly last look of the shoot.
- Working With a Stylist Retouch: Conclusion featuring a retouching tutorial, offering insights into the post-production process.

Through this comprehensive series of videos, viewers gain valuable insights into the dynamics of collaboration in the fashion industry, as well as the creative processes involved in editorial shoots, from conception to post-production retouching.
