Exploring Complementary Colours with Watercolour: Receiving and giving compliments can benefit your soul.

Enhancements are significant for our art.

It's great to be rewarded with praise on our artwork; however, using them is a great way to give your paintings vitality, vibrancy, and harmony. Complements are the colors that have opposites on the wheel of color.

In this course, you will look at some of the complementary colors' fascinating effects and characteristics.

The concept is part of the Theory of Colour. Theory.

Color theory is an enormous and fascinating topic. Don't be intimidated by it. We can go through it in bite-sized chunks.

In this class, we will explore

- How do colors complement one another, and how do you identify the colors that complement each other, and how do you find them?
- How can you use them in an easy but efficient manner?
- How do you make a color wheel using only your materials?
- Mixing secondary and tertiary colors.
- What precisely a Tryptic is?
- This class is for anyone. It's an excellent introduction to the theory of color for those new to watercolors and is a great way to increase the scope of your skills and improve your skills if you are more experienced.
- It's also an excellent method to gain knowledge while taking a break to do some color therapy for yourself.
