animation. They provide various courses, workshops, and mentoring programs to help students learn the art of animation. As part of their educational offerings, Animation Mentors may provide students with access to animation rigs.

In animation, a "rig" refers to a pre-built character model with a skeleton and controls that animators can use to create animated sequences. These rigs are essential tools for animators as they save time and allow them to focus on the animation itself rather than building characters from scratch.

Animation Mentor typically provides students with access to high-quality animation rigs to practice their animation skills. These rigs can include various types of characters, from humans to animals and creatures, each designed to facilitate different types of animation exercises and challenges.
