Illustration for Branding – Take on Any Style: Have you ever admired an illustration and wished you could create something similar? Whether you're a beginner or an experienced artist, stepping outside your comfort zone can be daunting, especially when faced with a specific project brief.
This course will delve into the essence of style, learning how to deconstruct and replicate various artistic styles. All skill levels are welcome, and I've designed the class to be highly practical and hands-on.

Whether following a set style or eager to develop your techniques, this course offers a creative space to enhance your illustration skills.

I aim to empower you to explore new styles without feeling intimidated. Feel free to ask questions in the discussion tab—I'm here to help, and your inquiries can benefit other students, too. Join me in class, and let's embark on this journey together!
