Soundtrack Loops presents Foley V4 Office Sound Effects and rhythms. The office will be the 4th release of the Soundtrack Loops Foley series, created and recorded by Mexico with Edgar Lopez, whose vision is getting more impressive with each step. In the ever-growing combination of the production of music along with Foley music design, we've got Foley Version 4: Office. Each volume works across different genres of music. They're basically the same for all genres. What is it that makes Office distinct? The office is a part of the Foley series, but the texture makes this volume have an unintentional tilt towards the motorik boing boom and that which the German Art School students certainly love. It's also one of the most, you could say... comfortable. You can enjoy rustling paper and pen scribbles. Printers and scanners, phones as well as typewriters All staged in the rich sound and ready for immediate music production. These 80 loops (90 or 160 BPM) illustrate how busy you can be using these resources The 61 one-shots comprised of them are clear soft, smooth, and richly textured. You can easily sequence rhythmic and fluid soundscapes that have a quasi-jungle or drum 'n' bass--another reference to a genre and a further Office outstanding feature. First Kitchen Things, then Trash and Human Body, and now Office with four titles running. With Foley loops, Foley, and single shots, each one has distinct characteristics together. The collection offers a lively sound design resource that has significant potential.
