2026-01-09 11:21:01

is a powerful reporting and document creation VCL library, seamlessly integrated with Delphi and C++Builder environments. Offering an extensive array of features, it simplifies the generation of reports and documents through its visual template designer, diverse data source accessibility, and robust export capabilities to over 30 formats. Users can effortlessly create labels, price tags, and geo-reports with maps, infographics, and traditional tabular and hierarchical reports. With a focus on data security, the library protects templates and reports through strong data encryption and supports flexible and interactive report creation.

Flexibility is a cornerstone of FastReport VCL, allowing users to easily connect custom objects and export filters, functions, and database engines. The library supports storing report templates and preparing reports in various file repositories, enhancing document management. Its compatibility spans many Delphi and C++Builder versions, supporting popular databases and third-party libraries. Internationalization is seamless, with support for over 32 languages, enabling comfortable work in any language globally. The library includes a modern report designer with powerful tools, offering a user-friendly interface and facilitating code-based and multi-template reports.

Security is paramount in FastReport VCL, ensuring access control for data and encrypted templates and reports and instilling confidence in report confidentiality. The library's built-in script support, interactive forms, and flexible architecture add layers of flexibility and interactivity. The support for various report objects, including tables, barcodes, maps, and gauges, enhances visual representability. Moreover, FastReport VCL enables easy delivery to cloud storage, allowing users to save report templates, prepare reports, or export results to destinations such as email, FTP, DropBox, OneDrive, Box.com, and Google. With compatibility spanning a range of platforms, FastReport VCL is a modern and efficient solution for developers seeking high-performance reporting capabilities.
