Cinetools Savages: We are delighted to announce the debut of a brand new series dubbed "Trailer Cues," providing high-end trailer cues and designs for sound beds to be used in motion picture, TV, and video game advertisements. "Savages" is an introduction to the series, and this epic collection provides terrifying and terrifying trailer cues waiting to be released into your creative fingers, perfect for horror scenes and suspense, blood-curdling motions.

Ideal for use in Cinematic Composition, Film Scores and Short-movie Scores, commercials, trailers, Documentaries, and advertising Background and World music. Additionally, it can be used for any production that ranges from Electro, Cinematic DnB, and Dubstep to Ambient, and I want to spice the music up with something unique. Scary and sinister, deadly and exciting! These words can be used to describe what's in the book.

It contains all the elements of total darkness, with a terrifying and terrifying theme, then it increases until the point of your most terrifying terror at the conclusion. The stingers are menacing and haunting with abrasive and aerated orchestral sounds, frightening stabs that threaten to end terrifyingly, and awe-inspiring drums to tense beats, squealing metals, and massive rises flash through the dark drones and threaten to explode into something terrifying. Ensure this track makes you feel like an unknown threat lurks in the wild! In the details, you will receive five terror-based cinematic trailer cues ready for use. The tracks are recorded in industry-standard 24bit/96kHz format to guarantee the highest quality and reliability for today's needs in cinematic production. Each track is BPM and key-labeled, making picking the best file simpler. Using them in your cinematic projects is possible without a licensing fee. We can say that this program will grant you the ability to make movie trailers professionally in just a few seconds!
