DevExpress FMX Data Grid Great Features:

A Multi-Platform Data Grid

The DevExpress FMX Data Grid was specifically designed and optimized to work with FireMonkey in addition to cross-platform programming. The DevExpress FMX Data Grid ships with high-impact features, so you can create beautiful cross-platform applications that run (and appear) in a native way across Windows, Android, and macOS.

Easy-to-Configure Master-Detail Support

In our FMX Data Grid, you can display master-detail relations of any complexity, with infinite nesting and details of all levels. This DevExpress FMX Grid does not restrict the information you display for each detail row. Detail Rows can display any information you want to show, and detail Rows can show any data.

View-based Architecture in

We have developed our FMX Table View that emulates the appearance, feel, and functionality of The Microsoft Outlook grid and displays data using the standard tableau UI metaphor. The FMX Grid's flexibility in UI allows you to create customized user experiences by integrating runtime settings - giving users complete control over the presentation of information within your cross-platform application.

The Grid's LayoutView lets the creation of flexible and adaptable grid layouts. The grid will automatically adjust its size or rearrange cells when its width alters.
