StudioLine Web Designer v5.0.6

2025-01-01 22:16:52

Studio Line Web Designer has the ability to incorporate the elements for the layout as well as the process of publishing and the maintenance of the specialist sight into the frequent user interface for the user and the devil of her along with the web page editor, archiving of the image as well as editing, graphic effect, publishing along weight management, template editor and the administration of the website. The user has the ability to produce collages, edit the picture and then use the images along with the effect directly from the page editor. These are having the ability to observe the outcome along with the media explorer that the user website resources and the photo images, sound, and finally the video bites. The picture tools or the filters are being employed whatever they're required while the user is working in the user web page design. The page templates permitting user in order to position the user design component precisely and with the assistance of a rule supervisor easily. The process can be quickly produced and the shortcut along with the sub manners for the user friendly site navigation is present. Categorizing the user images with the help of the unlimited text in the system and the user descriptors or by even assigning keywords and ratings can happen. After the process of searching for the specific images or the ones that are matching the certain team is basically a child's play.

StudioLine Web Designer Great Features:

It has the following features and attributes of the stated as below such as:

Design element: With the use of the design element, it is very easy to perfectly align the multiple images as well as text right within the desired area of the page. For a presentation which is Unified the number of configuration options are present such as the horizontal as well as the vertical alignment and the adjustable spacing process and margins. The rapping as well as the orientation of the text along with the image is basically done automatically based on the rules that the user defines. Since the user has the ability to control the borders, the shapes of the corner, the color of the background as well as the title, The Design element are basically excellent layout aids for the process of navigation of the bars, column titles and even the entire page.

Irregular image shape: The user is not limited to the rectangular images and the actual shape of the image is capable of controlling the clickable area. This is not done in the editor of the Studio Line but it is not even on the public web page and permits a user for the complex collages of the overlapping images without even having to require the user to create as well as maintain the image map.

Guides: Just by the process of dragging the object to the desired location of the user as well as the site or even the center will permit the user to snap into the perfect alignment with the magnetic guides. The guides in this case can be saved as a set in order to restore for the use in other pages as well as other project.

Alignment tools: All the selected object are capable of automatically being aligned vertically as well as horizontally and even spaced equally.

Media Explorer: Managing the images as well as the graphics that are used on the user website right in the integrated image archive. In this way the user has the ability to have an immediate access as well as changes to the image that are automatically propagated to the pages that are affected.

Floating tool bars: The Studio Line web designer does not use the windows modal. It has the ability to keep the frequently used tools open for a long time that the user desires and eliminate the constant need in order to reopen the dialogs that are closed each time that the user applies a change. As a result, the user has the ability to easily tweak the look which is achieved by the process of combining several tools as well as adjusting the various settings.

版本列表

所有软件资源 100%安全 已检测 无病毒 无篡改
去预览

标签

Tools Applications

StudioLine Web Designer v5.0.6

StudioLine Web Designer v5.0.6

苏ICP备19032038号 Powered by getShopSys