is a versatile Software Developer Kit (SDK) providing seamless access to Bluetooth features across Windows platforms. Supporting both Bluetooth Classic and Bluetooth Low Energy technologies, BTFramework ensures comprehensive Bluetooth integration. With compatibility across Delphi, CBuilder, Lazarus, Microsoft .NET, C++, Python, and Unity, it offers flexibility and ease of use.

The framework provides an extensive range of features, including Bluetooth hardware change detection, synchronous/asynchronous event handling, and support for various Bluetooth drivers such as BlueSoleil, Microsoft, Toshiba, and Silicon Labs (BlueGiga) BLED112 USB dongle. BTFramework Bluetooth Framework .NET simplifies common Bluetooth operations such as enumerating local Bluetooth radios, discovering remote devices, and manual or automatic pairing.

BTFramework Bluetooth Framework .NET facilitates both Classic and Low-Energy Bluetooth functionalities, including GATT client/server operations, Bluetooth LE advertising, and support for devices like DFRobot Bluno Boards and LEGO WeDo 2.0. Additionally, it supports OBEX features and audio-related operations, providing a comprehensive solution for Bluetooth integration in .NET environments.

Key Features of BTFramework Bluetooth Framework .NET :

1. Bluetooth hardware monitoring
2. Synchronous and asynchronous events
3. Multiple Bluetooth driver support
4. Bluetooth device operations (enumerating, discovering, pairing, etc.)
5. Classic Bluetooth features (RFCOMM, virtual COM ports, Wii Remote support, etc.)
6. Bluetooth Low Energy features (GATT, connection parameters, beacon monitoring, etc.)
7. OBEX client/server operations
8. Audio device management (enumerating, volume control, re-connection)
