How To Curate Your Watercolor Palette – Color Theory for Beginners: Are you yearning to add a personal touch to your watercolour palette? Are you stuck with rarely used colours, or are you unsure how to switch things up? Perhaps you simply crave a fresh start and a chance to explore new hues?

If any of this resonates with you, this class is tailor-made for your needs!

In this class, we'll embark on a journey to curate our unique watercolour palettes, selecting our favourite colours while delving into the fundamentals of colour theory. Our goals include:

- You understand the art of choosing the perfect palette for your artistic style.
- We are exploring the differences between using tubes versus pans.
- You are learning cost-effective strategies for updating and customizing your palette.
- We are experimenting with swatches and techniques to intimately get to know our watercolours.
- We are gaining insights into critical principles of colour theory to inform our palette choices.

Who Should Take This Class?

- Watercolour beginners are seeking guidance on refreshing their palette.
- Experienced watercolour artists are interested in exploring new ideas for palette curation.
- Those accustomed to using pre-made palettes but eager to embrace the freedom of customization.
- Enthusiastic watercolour enthusiasts keen on experimenting and having fun with their art!
