What is Bokeh and Light Leaks

Bokeh and light leaks are two creative photographic effects that can add unique and artistic elements to your photos. They are often used to enhance the aesthetic appeal of an image, create a specific mood, or evoke a certain style. Both bokeh and light leaks are tools that photographers and digital artists use to add creative flair to their work. When used thoughtfully and in the right context, they can help convey emotions, tell stories, and make your photos visually captivating. However, it's important to use these effects judiciously, as overusing them can detract from the overall quality and impact of your images.
