Ginno Legaspi review - SoundBytes Magazine:

The program is composed comprising 1.8 gigabytes 24-bit/44.1 samples at kHz that are split into folders with drones and other effects. The quality of the sound is in the ambient and soundscape style the Bluezone Corporation is really good at. These 111 stereo sample files that are in WAV format were carefully recorded and edited using the twisted techniques and effects that were applied to the whole collection. The samples were made to be compatible with any track you're making for ambient, experimental TV series, avant-garde film, feature films as well as games. If this sounds like your scene and you're looking for a sound library that's unique, you'll be amazed by Dioxide's sample collection.
